Financial literacy is a combination of financial knowledge, skills, attitudes and behaviours necessary to make sound financial decisions, based on personal circumstances, to improve financial wellbeing

Having financial literacy means being able to understand and navigate the financial landscape and make good decisions about money. This can benefit individuals, families and communities. It helps people make informed choices, day-to-day and throughout their lives. This course supports the Australian Government's National Financial Literacy Strategy through its agency the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (see Appendix 2). Although low financial literacy may be found in any demographic group, it is more likely to be encountered in learners who are targeted by this course (www.financialliteracy.gov.au/media/546585/report-403_national-financial-literacy-strategy-2014-17.pdf p14).

Course Description

Financial Literacy is an introduction to the basic concepts surrounding personal financial management. This course provides learners with the tools to make wiser decisions regarding their financial affairs. Through consideration of the following questions, learners will study the core components of earning, saving, spending and investing.

1. How do I become an informed financial decision maker?
2. How do I prepare for a more secure future?
3. Where do I find relevant information and assistance?

Rationale

Financial literacy is a combination of financial knowledge, skills, attitudes and behaviours necessary to make sound financial decisions, based on personal circumstances, to improve financial wellbeing.

Having financial literacy means being able to understand and navigate the financial landscape and make good decisions about money. This can benefit individuals, families and communities. It helps people make informed choices, day-to-day and throughout their lives.

This course supports the Australian Government's National Financial Literacy Strategy (page 14) through its agency the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (see Appendix 2). Although low financial literacy may be found in any demographic group, it is more likely to be encountered in learners who are targeted by this course.

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this course, learners will be able to:

1. prepare a personal financial budget
2. set personal financial goals
3. communicate financial information
4. make simple personal financial decisions.

Pathways

Financial literacy is a core whole-of-life skill. Financial Literacy Level 1 provides a pathway to Business Studies – Foundation Level 2 and to the unit of competency Be MoneySmart (FNSFLT391A) within Certificate III in Financial Services (FNS30111).

Course Size And Complexity

This course has a complexity level of 1.

At Level 1, the learner is expected to carry out tasks and activities that draw on a limited range of knowledge and skills. The tasks and activities generally have a substantial repetitive aspect to them. Minimum judgement is needed as there are usually very clear rules, guidelines or procedures to be followed. VET competencies at this level are often those characteristic of an AQF Certificate I.

This course has a size value of 5.

Course Delivery

This is a practical, skills-based course with an emphasis on tasks in solving real-life problems. It is recommended that a broad range of teaching and learning tools are employed to achieve the aims of the course. These could include:

- The use of practical exercises and activities
- The use of case studies and hypothetical scenarios
- The use of information technology
- Visits and excursions to relevant agencies and businesses
- Guest speakers from relevant agencies and businesses.

A Glossary of terms used in the standards and throughout the course document is provided in Appendix 1.

ELECTIVE COMPONENT

At least ONE activity must be chosen from the following list. - Buy the first car
- Select a mobile phone plan
- Plan a holiday
- Buy or rent a property.

Learners are required to study financial information related to their elective activity, investigate products or services, find references and sources, make conclusions and present the results of their investigation. Types of evidence may include teacher observation of learners, interviews, notes, written reports, oral reports and multimodal presentations.

Written reports need be no more than 500 words, oral reports no more than 3-4 minutes and multimodal presentations of 3-5 minutes.

Assessment

Criterion-based assessment is a form of outcomes assessment that identifies the extent of learner achievement at an appropriate end-point of study. Although assessment – as part of the learning program – is continuous, much of it is formative, and is done to help learners identify what they need to do to attain the maximum benefit from their study of the course. Therefore, assessment for summative reporting to TASC will focus on what both teacher and learner understand to reflect end-point achievement.

The standard of achievement each learner attains on each criterion is recorded as a rating of 'C' (satisfactory standard) according to the outcomes specified in the standards section of the course document.

A 't' notation must be used where a learner demonstrates any achievement against a criterion less than the standard specified for the 'C' rating. The 't' notation is not described in course standards.

A 'z' notation is to be used where a learner provides no evidence of achievement at all.

Providers offering this course must participate in quality assurance processes specified by TASC to ensure provider validity and comparability of standards across all awards. To learn more, see TASC's quality assurance processes and assessment information.

Internal assessment of all criteria will be made by the provider. Assessment processes must gather evidence that clearly shows the match between individual learner performance, the standards of the course and the learner's award. Providers will report the learner's rating for each criterion to TASC.

Quality Assurance Process

The following processes will be facilitated by TASC to ensure there is:

- a match between the standards of achievement specified in the course and the skills and knowledge demonstrated by learners
- community confidence in the integrity and meaning of the qualification.

Process – Each provider is responsible for ensuring the integrity and validity of their assessment results against the requirements of the course, including standards, and for maintaining records and documentation that will demonstrate the integrity, accuracy and validity of the award decisions they make each year.

Where TASC identifies sufficient potential for concern about the integrity or validity of a provider's award decisions it will undertake an investigation. After such an investigation is completed, TASC may take action under Section 33 of the Office of Tasmanian Assessment, Standards and Certification Act 2003 as it considers appropriate, including but not limited to:

- giving the school/college a direction in relation to the provision or assessment of the course (section 33 (2))
- refusing to accept results for this course from the provider (section 33 (4)).

The Department of Education's Curriculum Services will develop and regularly revise the curriculum. This evaluation will be informed by the experience of the course's implementation, delivery and assessment.

In addition, stakeholders may request Curriculum Services to review a particular aspect of an accredited course.

Requests for amendments to an accredited course will be forwarded by Curriculum Services to the Office of TASC for formal consideration.

Such requests for amendment will be considered in terms of the likely improvements to the outcomes for learners, possible consequences for delivery and assessment of the course, and alignment with Australian Curriculum materials.

A course is formally analysed prior to the expiry of its accreditation as part of the process to develop specifications to guide the development of any replacement course.

Course Developer

The Department of Education acknowledges the significant leadership of Richard Bennett (Consumer Affairs and Fair Trading), James Borjeson (StartSmart, Commonwealth Bank), Peter Cuzner (ASIC) and Jodie Schafferius (The Hutchins School) in the development of this course.
