Legal Studies – Foundation Level 2 enables learners to develop the knowledge and skills necessary to become active and informed citizens

It provides opportunities for learners to develop an awareness of the law as it relates to individuals in Australian society. Legal Studies – Foundation Level 2 provides learners with knowledge and understanding of the Australian legal system and extends their skills of research, investigation, data use and analysis, critical thinking and applied learning. The course will support learners to apply knowledge and skills to real world issues and ideas. Learners also undertake an evaluation of one aspect of Australia's legal and political systems in order to deepen their understanding of Australia's systems of law.

Rationale

Legal Studies – Foundation Level 2 enables learners to develop the knowledge and skills necessary to become active and informed citizens. It provides opportunities for learners to develop an awareness of the law as it relates to individuals in Australian society.

Course Size And Complexity

This course has a complexity level of 2.

At Level 2, the learner is expected to carry out tasks and activities that involve a range of knowledge and skills, including some basic theoretical and/or technical knowledge and skills. Limited judgement is required, such as making an appropriate selection from a range of given rules, guidelines or procedures. VET competencies at this level are often those characteristic of an AQF Certificate II.

This course has a size value of 15.

Course Requirements

Legal Studies – Foundation Level 2 consists of six (6) topics and a summative work requirement.

All topics and the work requirement are compulsory. Topics will be delivered and assessed in the sequence in which they appear in this course document. It is recommended that each Unit be given approximately equal delivery time.

Course Content

Legal Studies – Foundation Level 2 is divided into six (6) compulsory Units of study:

Unit 1 – Laws, legal and non-legal rules: why do we have them? (15 percent of course content)

Unit 2 – The three levels of government in Australia (15 percent of course content)

Unit 3 – Police powers and policing (15 percent of course content)

Unit 4 – Consumer Law (15 percent of course content)

Unit 5 – Family Law (15 percent of course content)

Unit 6 – Employment Law (15 percent of course content)

Summative Work Requirement: (10 percent of course content)

UNIT 1 – LAWS, LEGAL AND NON-LEGAL RULES: WHY DO WE HAVE THEM? (15 PERCENT OF COURSE CONTENT)

The focus of this Unit is the basis of law in Australia. It distinguishes between formal law and rules which are not enforceable under law. Considering the origins of Australian law in British law, the Unit considers the two ways in which Australian law is developed, through the courts and through the parliament. The Unit also considers how law is influenced by individuals and groups.

Learners will study:

- why we have law
- the similarities and differences between legal and non-legal rules
- civil and criminal law, categories of law
- the sources of law in Australia's system of government
 - describe British common law including; adversarial system of trial (main features of civil and criminal courts, including legal personnel including judge, legal representation, jury, adversaries, nature of justice (equality, fairness, access)); and rule of law
 - Common Law – Courts
 - court hierarchy at state and federal levels
 - jurisdiction of state and federal courts
 - summary and indictable offences
 - court protocols and procedures (with a focus on criminal courts)
 - Statute Law – Parliament
 - legislative process
 - influence of individuals and groups in changing law.

MINIMUM WORK REQUIREMENTS – UNIT 1

Two (2) completed responses, comprising:

- one (1) written response on laws, legal and non-legal rules (400 words); and
- one (1) written or multimodal response (300 words or equivalent) on an aspect of laws, legal and non-legal rules. Learners are required to provide a copy, in print or digital form, to their teacher, if they select a multimodal response).

UNIT 2 – THE THREE LEVELS OF GOVERNMENT IN AUSTRALIA (15 PERCENT OF COURSE CONTENT)

The focus of this Unit is Australia's system of Government. Each level of government in Australia have their own responsibilities and roles. At times the roles of each level of government are separate, such as in defence and immigration at the federal level, while there are, in other areas overlap of responsibility such as in health and education. Learners consider the advantages and disadvantages of Australia's federal arrangements.

Learners will study the three levels of government in Australia and the roles and responsibilities of each level of government.

Learners will study:

- the structure of the three levels of government:
 - federal – parliament, courts and executive
 - state – parliament, courts and executive

- one (1) written or multimodal response (300 words or equivalent) on an aspect of employment law. Learners are required to provide a copy, in print or digital form, to their teacher, if they select a multimodal response).

Work Requirements

SUMMATIVE WORK REQUIREMENT (10 PERCENT OF COURSE CONTENT)

Learners will undertake ONE individual (i.e. not group work) research investigation and present their findings in a written report (of approximately 900-words (3 pages) in length).

The investigation will take the form of a written report. Learners will negotiate a topic for investigation. The topic will be drawn from the content of this course. Learners are to describe and assess one aspect of Australian law taken from one of the six Units of the course. The learner will undertake the report regarding the topic in the Australian legal context, and will refer to, where relevant, aspects of comparative and/or international law.

Focus of the investigation and report will be to:

- describe and evaluate the situation in an Australian state or territory by reference to that jurisdiction's law
- accurately identify and compare the situation in the state or territory with similar and relevant laws in other Australian jurisdictions
- where applicable, accurately identify relevant international law relevant to the case study (including international declarations, treaties, conventions and covenants).

Example topics include, but are not limited to:

- treatment of juvenile offenders in different states and territories in Australia
- family law in Australia regarding child custody and/or marriage
- Australian judicial responses to violence against women and children, and relevant international law
- the adversarial system of trial used in Australia
- Australia's three-level, Federal system of government, and possible alternatives to it
- roles and powers of police in Australia (Tasmania Police and/or Australian Federal Police)
- consumer protection legislation in different states and territories in Australia.

Learners must negotiate and reach agreement with their teacher on a suitable topic before undertaking substantial work in relation to their selected topic. Learner ability to plan and organise to complete this activity (Criterion 2) forms a part of the overall assessment of this task.

Report format:

- have a title, headings and sub-headings
- use a numbering system for sections/sub-sections
- use dot points and paragraphs where appropriate. When dot points are used they must provide clear information, not an over simplistic summary or a single word
- have an introduction and a conclusion
- graphs, diagrams, tables and charts may be included within the report or attached as appendices. They must to be referred to, and discussed within, the report
- the source of the information, images, ideas or words not the learner's own must be explicitly acknowledged using an appropriate referencing/citation method, and a reference list/bibliography must be provided.

RECOMMENDATION

It is recommended that learners be given the opportunity to observe the operation of one or more courts or tribunals in civil and/or criminal cases.

Assessment

Criterion-based assessment is a form of outcomes assessment that identifies the extent of learner achievement at an appropriate end-point of study. Although assessment – as part of the learning program – is continuous, much of it is formative, and is done to help learners identify what they need to do to attain the maximum benefit from their study of the course. Therefore, assessment for summative reporting to TASC will focus on what both teacher and learner understand to reflect end-point achievement.

The standard of achievement each learner attains on each criterion is recorded as a rating 'A', 'B', or 'C', according to the outcomes specified in the standards section of the course.

A 't' notation must be used where a learner demonstrates any achievement against a criterion less than the standard specified for the 'C' rating.

A 'z' notation is to be used where a learner provides no evidence of achievement at all.

Providers offering this course must participate in quality assurance processes specified by TASC to ensure provider validity and comparability of standards across all awards. To learn more, see TASC's quality assurance processes and assessment information.

Internal assessment of all criteria will be made by the provider. Providers will report the learner's rating for each criterion to TASC.

Quality Assurance Process

The following processes will be facilitated by TASC to ensure there is:

- a match between the standards of achievement specified in the course and the skills and knowledge demonstrated by learners
- community confidence in the integrity and meaning of the qualification.

Process – Each provider will submit bodies of learners' work sufficient to allow an assessment against a nominated range of criteria and the overall award to an annual review meeting organised by TASC. The work, while not necessarily fully resolved, will be assessed by the provider against the range of nominated assessment criteria and the overall award. TASC will give each provider guidance regarding the selection of learners and the nominated criteria.

Each body of learner work that providers submit to the meeting should include sufficient and appropriate material for judgements to be made about the learner's standard of literacy skills.

The review meeting will give advice about the provider's assessment standards. Providers are expected to act on this advice.

TASC may require providers to supply further samples of individual learners' work to determine that standards have been applied appropriately when finalising learners' results. The nature and scope of this requirement will be risk-based.

Criteria

The assessment for Legal Studies – Foundation Level 2 will be based on the degree to which the learner can:

1. communicate legal ideas and information
2. plan and organise to complete legal-related activities
3. describe need for law, its sources and categories
4. describe levels of government in Australia
5. describe powers and jurisdictions of the different levels of law enforcement in Australia
6. describe Australian consumer law and its application

Course Evaluation

The Department of Education's Curriculum Services will develop and regularly revise the curriculum. This evaluation will be informed by the experience of the course's implementation, delivery and assessment.

In addition, stakeholders may request Curriculum Services to review a particular aspect of an accredited course.

Requests for amendments to an accredited course will be forwarded by Curriculum Services to the Office of TASC for formal consideration.

Such requests for amendment will be considered in terms of the likely improvements to the outcomes for learners, possible consequences for delivery and assessment of the course, and alignment with Australian Curriculum materials.

A course is formally analysed prior to the expiry of its accreditation as part of the process to develop specifications to guide the development of any replacement course.
