This course is current for 2024.

The study of Japanese contributes to the overall education of learners, particularly in the areas of communication, intercultural understanding and general knowledge

Through studying Japanese, learners gain access to Japanese-speaking communities in Japan and in many other countries, including Australia. The ability to communicate in Japanese will (in conjunction with other skills acquired in the study of this course) provide learners with enhanced vocational opportunities and the possibility to apply Japanese culture and language skills to work, further study, training or personal interests. This course builds on Japanese - Foundation and provides a pathway to the study of Japanese at university level.

Course Description

Learners will use Japanese to communicate with others by:

- listening and responding to spoken Japanese
- communicating in spoken Japanese
- reading and responding to written Japanese
- expressing ideas and information in written Japanese.

This is done within a contextual framework of three prescribed themes:

1. The individual
2. Japanese-speaking communities
3. The changing world.

These themes, and their topics and sub-topics, have been selected to enable learners to develop their understanding of how Japanese and culture are inter-related.

The themes have a number of topics and sub-topics. The placement of the topics under themes is intended to provide a particular perspective for each of the topics. The sub-topics expand on the topics and guide the learner and teacher as to how the topics may be treated.

It is not expected that all themes and topics will require the same amount of study time. The length of time and depth devoted to each topic will vary according to the linguistic needs and interests of the learner.

The learner will negotiate at least one topic drawn from the themes and their topics/sub-topics for more detailed study.

Rationale

The study of Japanese contributes to the overall education of learners, particularly in the areas of communication, cross-cultural understanding, and general knowledge. It provides access to the culture of Japan and Japanese-speaking communities. The study promotes understanding of different attitudes and values within the wider Australian community and beyond.

The language to be studied and assessed is the modern standard or official version of Japanese.

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this course, learners will be able to:

1. use Japanese to communicate with others by listening and responding to spoken Japanese
2. use Japanese to communicate with others by communicating in spoken Japanese
3. use Japanese to communicate with others by reading and responding to written Japanese
4. use Japanese to communicate with others by expressing ideas and information in written Japanese
5. interpret contemporary Japanese customs and daily life, and the cultural context in which Japanese is used
6. critically reflect on their own culture through the study of Japanese culture
7. use Japanese as a language system
8. make connections between English and another language
9. apply negotiation, planning and organisational skills.

Access

This Level 3 course is designed for learners who have successfully completed Japanese – Foundation Level 2 or its equivalent.

Pathways

Japanese – Foundation Level 2 provides a pathway to this course.

This course provides a pathway to the study of Japanese at tertiary level, and to various vocational education and training (VET) packages that include Japanese components/ units of competency.

Course Size And Complexity

This course has a complexity level of 3.

At Level 3, the learner is expected to acquire a combination of theoretical and/or technical and factual knowledge and skills and use judgement when varying procedures to deal with unusual or unexpected aspects that may arise. Some skills in organising self and others are expected. Level 3 is a standard suitable to prepare learners for further study at tertiary level. VET competencies at this level are often those characteristic of an AQF Certificate III.

This course has a size value of 15.

3. The Changing World

The theme 'The Changing World' enables the learner to explore change as it affects aspects of the world such as work, technology, trade and tourism and social issues.

Social Issues	Travel and Tourism	The World of Work
Sub-topics studied may include, but are not limited to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• immigration/migration</li> <li>• relationships with neighbouring / regional nations</li> <li>• health</li> <li>• the young and the elderly</li> <li>• the environment.</li> </ul>	Sub-topics studied may include, but are not limited to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• tourist attractions in Japan</li> <li>• visiting Japan</li> <li>• entering and leaving Japan, travel document (passport, visa, tickets)</li> <li>• hotels, hostels, camping grounds</li> <li>• hosting Japanese visitors</li> <li>• home stay.</li> </ul>	Sub-topics studied may include, but are not limited to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the effect of technological developments</li> <li>• types of jobs, professions, trades</li> <li>• men and women in the workforce</li> <li>• Australia and Japan as trading partners</li> <li>• attitudes to work.</li> </ul>

USE OF ENGLISH

While it is expected that learners will study a range of oral and written texts in Japanese, it may be appropriate in some circumstances to select texts using English. Equally, it may be appropriate for a learner to respond to a text in English on some occasions.

Note: at its meeting on 3 April 2013, TASC decided that from 2014 the examination specifications for all Level 3 language courses would include use of the target language in responses in the reading section of the written examination.

TEXT TYPES

The learner will be expected to be familiar with a variety of text types. Text types indicated with an asterisk (*) are those that the learner may be expected to produce in the external examination of this Level 3 course. Teachers may introduce the learner to a wider range of text types in the course of their teaching and learning program:

DICTIONARIES

Teachers will assist learners to develop the necessary skills and confidence to use dictionaries effectively.

For details regarding the use of dictionaries in the external assessment process see 'What can I take to my exam?'.

GRAMMAR AND STRUCTURES

Grammar can be referred to as the organisation of, and relationship between, all the elements that constitute a language as it functions.

There are many different theories of grammar, and a number of different approaches towards its teaching and learning. The categories used below are not intended to promote any particular theory of grammar, or to favour one methodology over another.

In this Level 3 course it is assumed that the learner will already have acquired a significant understanding of the function of grammar in Japanese through prior knowledge or study of Japanese.

Developing the learner's ability to convey meaning effectively in a range of contexts will, however, necessarily involve extending awareness of the system of structures underlying the language, as well as the ability both to apply and adapt this knowledge.

The following grammatical structures are those that the learner is expected to recognise and use.

Work Requirements

From their study of these themes and related topics/sub-topics learners will undertake at least one substantial assessment task (approximately 1000 words or equivalent). The mode of presentation is not prescribed. It may be a written report, an oral report or presentation, or a multimodal* presentation. The task will be assessed internally, and will be a significant source of evidence for the assessment of the Learning Outcomes, 'gain a detailed understanding and appreciation of Japanese customs and traditions, and the cultural context in which Japanese is used' and 'critically reflect on their own culture through the study of Japanese culture' (Criterion 5) and Criterion 6.

While the report/presentation of the assessment task may be in English, Japanese should be used as appropriate (for example, when discussing Japanese concepts, using direct quotations from sources in Japanese, or referring to Japanese terms).

Learners will negotiate the task with their teacher. While not prescribed, the nature of the task will be one that engages the learner in critical reflection and that provides opportunities to present reasoned arguments/points of view and analysis. An issue-based approach is more appropriate than one that is purely descriptive in nature. For example, an activity or topic might be framed as a question such as:

- 'In what ways, and to what extent, has Japanese culture influenced Australian culture?'
- 'Compare and contrast
  - the lyrics and music of a popular Japanese song with the lyrics and music of a popular Australian song.
  - or
  - the front page of a Japanese newspaper with the front page of an Australian newspaper.
  - or
  - a popular Japanese television show with a popular Australian television show.What do these similarities and differences tell us about the two cultures?'
- 'In what ways, and to what extent, have Japanese-speaking communities in Australia contributed to our multicultural society?'
- 'Compare and contrast the role of sport/art/performing arts in Japanese and Australian society. How might the similarities and differences be explained?'
- 'Compare and contrast contemporary daily life in Japanese and Australian society. How might the similarities and differences be explained?'

**Multimodal: a combination of two or more communication modes (for example print, image, and spoken text, as in a film or computer presentation).*

Assessment

Criterion-based assessment is a form of outcomes assessment that identifies the extent of learner achievement at an appropriate end-point of study. Although assessment – as part of the learning program – is continuous, much of it is formative, and is done to help learners identify what they need to do to attain the maximum benefit from their study of the course. Therefore, assessment for summative reporting to TASC will focus on what both teacher and learner understand to reflect end-point achievement.

The standard of achievement each learner attains on each criterion is recorded as a rating 'A', 'B', or 'C', according to the outcomes specified in the standards section of the course.

A 't' notation must be used where a learner demonstrates any achievement against a criterion less than the standard specified for the 'C' rating.

A 'z' notation is to be used where a learner provides no evidence of achievement at all.

Providers offering this course must participate in quality assurance processes specified by TASC to ensure provider validity and comparability of standards across all awards. To learn more, see TASC's quality assurance processes and assessment information.

Internal assessment of all criteria will be made by the provider. Providers will report the learner's rating for each criterion to TASC.

TASC will supervise the external assessment of designated criteria which will be indicated by an asterisk (*). The ratings obtained from the external assessments will be used in addition to internal ratings from the provider to determine the final award.

Quality Assurance Process

The following processes will be facilitated by TASC to ensure there is:

- a match between the standards for achievement specified in the course and the skills and knowledge demonstrated by learners
- community confidence in the integrity and meaning of the qualification.

Process – TASC gives course providers feedback about any systematic differences in the relationship of their internal and external assessments and, where appropriate, seeks further evidence through audit and requires corrective action in the future.

Additionally, the Office of TASC may select to undertake scheduled audits of this course and its work requirements (Provider standards 1, 2, 3 and 4).

External Assessment Requirements

The external assessment requirements for the course Japanese Level 3 consists of:

- an oral examination; and
- a written examination.

The criteria to be externally assessed are 1, 2, 3, and 4.

For details regarding the use of dictionaries in the external assessment process see "What can I take to my exam?".

Note: at its meeting of 3 April 2013 TASC decided that from 2014 the examination specifications for all Level 3 language courses would include use of the target language in responses in the reading section of the written examination.

For further information see the TASC's External Assessment Guidelines for this course which can be found in the Supporting Documents below.

Criteria

The assessment for Japanese Level 3 will be based on the degree to which the learner can:

1. listen and respond to spoken Japanese*
2. communicate in spoken Japanese*
3. read and respond to written Japanese texts*
4. express ideas and information in written Japanese*
5. demonstrate understanding of Japanese culture
6. apply negotiation, planning and organisational skills

* = denotes criteria that are both internally and externally assessed

Standards

Criterion 1: listen and respond to spoken Japanese

This criterion is both internally and externally assessed.

Based on the grammar and structures in this Level 3 course content, the learner listens to spoken Japanese and responds.*

Rating A	Rating B	Rating C
In spoken conversations the learner listens to speech paced in a normal, conversational manner. Occasionally repetition and/or rephrasing may be requested from the speaker for clarification.	In spoken conversations the learner generally listens to speech paced in an authentic, conversational manner but requires slower pace when complex language structures are used and/or unfamiliar concepts/ideas are discussed. Repetition and/or rephrasing may be requested from the speaker for clarification.	In spoken conversations the learner requires moderated delivery and repetition and/or rephrasing.
The learner's response reflects understanding of all main points / general aspects and points of detail, additional information and/or specifics given in the spoken text.	The learner's response reflects understanding of all main points / general aspects and some points of detail, additional information and/or specifics given in the spoken text.	The learner's response reflects understanding of most main points / general aspects of the spoken text. Points of detail, additional information and/or specifics may not be addressed.

* 'Responses' may include, but are not limited to: carrying out an action or task; forming a spoken response; or forming a written response.

** Illustrative example:

Given oral text: "Sue loves to go into the city to shop. She seeks out the latest fashions, and is especially interested in accessory trends. In the city there is a much larger range than in her hometown. Being in the city also gives Sue a change to meet up with some of her old school friends."

Question: 'Explain why Sue goes to the city.'

Response: "Because she likes to shop there and meets her friends." (= C rating: details/additional information about what she buys, why she buys them in the city and the inference that her old school friends do not live in her hometown are not included in the response).

Criterion 2: communicate in spoken Japanese

This criterion is both internally and externally assessed.

Rating 'A':

Based on the grammar and structures in this Level 3 course content, the learner engages in conversation in familiar and unfamiliar contexts. The learner's oral communication in Japanese is characterised by:

Rating 'B':

Based on the grammar and structures in this Level 3 course content, the learner engages in conversation in familiar and unfamiliar contexts. The learner's oral communication in Japanese is characterised by:

While there are errors, listeners generally understand what is said.

* As defined by this course's content.

Criterion 3: read and respond to written Japanese texts

This criterion is both internally and externally assessed.

Based on the grammar and structures in this Level 3 course content, the learner reads Japanese texts and responds.*

Rating A	Rating B	Rating C
The learner makes some use of external references during aspects of the reading process	The learner makes frequent use of external references during the reading process	The learner is dependent on use of external references during the reading process
The learner reads all hiragana characters	The learner reads all hiragana characters	The learner reads all hiragana characters
The learner reads all katakana characters	The learner reads all katakana characters	The learner reads most katakana characters
The learner reads most prescribed kanji characters.*	The learner reads a range of prescribed kanji characters.*	The learner reads a limited range of prescribed kanji characters.*
The learner's response reflects understanding of all main points / general aspects and points of detail, additional information and/or specifics given in the written text.	The learner's response reflects understanding of all main points / general aspects and some points of detail, additional information and/or specifics given in the written text. PRELIMINARY ACHIEVEMENT (PA)

6 'C' ratings

A learner who otherwise achieves the ratings for a CA (Commendable Achievement) or SA (Satisfactory Achievement) award but who fails to show any evidence of achievement in one or more criteria ('z' notation) will be issued with a PA (Preliminary Achievement) award.

Course Evaluation

The Department of Education's Curriculum Services will develop and regularly revise the curriculum. This evaluation will be informed by the experience of the course's implementation, delivery and assessment.

In addition, stakeholders may request Curriculum Services to review a particular aspect of an accredited course.

Requests for amendments to an accredited course will be forwarded by Curriculum Services to the Office of TASC for formal consideration.

Such requests for amendment will be considered in terms of the likely improvements to the outcomes for learners, possible consequences for delivery and assessment of the course, and alignment with Australian Curriculum materials.

A course is formally analysed prior to the expiry of its accreditation as part of the process to develop specifications to guide the development of any replacement course.

Expectations Defined By National Standards

This course document includes materials consistent with the Collaborative Curriculum and Assessment Framework for Languages (CCAFL).

Accreditation

The accreditation period for this course has been renewed from 1 January 2021 until 31 December 2025.

During the accreditation period required amendments can be considered via established processes.

Should outcomes of the Years 9-12 Review process find this course unsuitable for inclusion in the Tasmanian senior secondary curriculum, its accreditation may be cancelled. Any such cancellation would not occur during an academic year.
